ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Instruction-Set Simulator (Python) Instruction Set Simulator

- Developed a web-based Instruction Set Simulator to execute and visualize basic assembly-style instructions using a 3-address instruction format.
- Implemented instruction parsing, register and memory management, and arithmetic/logical operations using JavaScript.

Stock Predictor Website

- Built an AI-powered stock prediction web application that analyzes historical market data and forecasts future stock price trends.
- Integrated machine learning models with real-time data visualization to provide interactive stock analysis.

Phishing Attack Predictor

- Developed a machine learning model to detect phishing websites by analyzing URL patterns and website-related features.
- Achieved automated classification of legitimate and phishing websites to improve cybersecurity awareness and detection.

Hospital Management System

- Designed a relational database system to manage patient, doctor, and appointment records using SQL.
- Implemented CRUD operations, database relationships, views, and triggers to ensure efficient and secure data management.
